Democratic Differences.

Any one who has been in the habit of glancing at the Opposition journals, no matter how cursorily, cannot have failed to notice with what evident gusto any differences of opinion among Democratic politicians or papers have been seized upon and paraded to the public, as unmistakable evidences of the impending dissolution of that party. So important an article of political news has it become to solace their readers for the divided and defeated condition of their own party, that they are manufactured to order in the Louisville Journal office; and you will find them going the rounds of the county papers, dilated, indeed, and deprived of most of their original spirit by the feeble hands they have passed through, till they return to the original manufactory, where its own imprint is often not recognized, and they are re-cast, and again sent out to fill their office of consolation.

We have often smiled to witness these puerile efforts to promote discord and dissension in our ranks; and were the Democrats less staunch, or made of the weak material of their enemies, they would often no doubt be discouraged; for the pertinacity with which these people assert and re-assert these charges is calculated to stagger some who are not acquainted with the "depravity" of human nature, and especially in the "total depravity" of these editors.

There is a world of wisdom in the pages of history, if men would only read them aright and apply their teachings to contemporary events; but none are so blind as those who will not see; and you may exhort and persuade, rebuke and lament, and still some men will prefer to linger in darkness, victims of prejudice, following "blind leaders of the blind," than by a calm and enlightened deliberation on current events, conform to the dictates of patriotism and reason, and act like men, regardless of past relationships, prejudices, or preferences. To all such we will premise, that there are no serious differences in the Democratic ranks—none which the deliberations and decisions of the Charleston Convention will not entirely remove; and you will find a united phalanx, ready to do battle for the constitution and for the conservatism of these States.

What ever differences may now exist in the Democratic party, so far from being detrimental to its integrity and perpetuity, gives assurance of its vitality; and although Democrats may now deliberate and differ, whenever they come into the presence of the enemy, they will present the esprit de corps of a well-trained phalanx of men who have had the manhood to express their opinions. Such was the case with the men who signed our Declaration of Independence; and one of their comrades even left the hall and refused to be a party to the treason; yet was their strength increased, and after separating they waved not in their loyalty to the cause to which they had pledged "their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honors." Such has been the experience of the Democratic party since its inception, and such is characteristic of all peoples and parties who have the elements of perpetuity in their organization.

To one looking upon the face of Europe during the latter part of the last century, where would he see agitation and differences save in England and Switzerland? And yet when the storm of the French Revolution swept the continent like the angel of death, they were the only governments that were sound, or exhibited any permanency to the astonished world. If "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," so is eternal agitation and ebullition the price of popular governments and parties. So far from being a cause of apprehension or alarm, that the Democratic party is now debating its differences, it is, to one wise enough to understand them, a source of rejoicing; for the energy displayed in these preliminary discussions is but an evidence of the strength they will display in the day of battle; and this is the history of this party, and all successful parties and people.

On the other hand, let us inquire a little into the condition of our opponents. They are scattered like autumn leaves—feeble, drifting, and at the mercy of the wind to waft them whithersoever it listeth. They have not sufficient energy left to organize them into the semblance of an opposing enemy. They are, however, numerous, but not disciplined; and are not to be despised, for their numbers are great; but it is a motley multitude. Some are rallying around the piratical flag displayed at Rochester, whose black folds can only be attractive to the fanatical and the desperate; some to a standard erected on the right bank of the Mississippi by a supernumerary leader who has never displayed other abilities than a willingness to sacrifice the interests of his own people to strengthen himself in the ranks of their enemies.

There are some here in Kentucky, having warred all their days with the Democratic party, but under the leadership of captains of credit and renown, but who have fallen by the wayside, "weary with the march of life," and a few of these are willing to enlist under a banner that is attempting to be erected at the falls of the Ohio; but it is in the hands of one who has not the vigor to plant it, and although an old campaigner, has held no higher post than that of drummer, and is without a single qualification for captain. This corps of the Opposition resembles that celebrated one which marched to Coventry, and under such a leadership will no doubt be as efficient as that one was on the plains of Shrewsbury.

GILLISPIE & HEFFNER.—We call the attention of gentlemen in want of clothing for the season, to the advertisement of these gentlemen, who have been engaged in the merchant tailoring business here for a number of years. They have just received a large stock of goods, such as cloths, cassimeres, vestings, &c., and we think any one who will look through their stock cannot fail to be pleased with the richness and elegance of the designs. They keep employed the best of workmen, and both the partners are practical mechanics and cutters equal to any in the country. Persons in ordering clothing from them will be guaranteed a good fit, and they propose to sell their goods as low and on as liberal terms as any house in the West. We recommend our friends to give them a trial, with the assurance that if they do so, they will be fully satisfied with the result.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK for December is a splendid number. Besides its usual literary excellences, and instructive information for the ladies, its engravings are of a better class than we are accustomed to see, even in Godey. The match pictures, entitled the "Departure" and the "Return," are a history in themselves of Domestic Affection and youthful anticipation. Those desiring to subscribe for this delightful fireside companion, should send in their names and make up their clubs now. Terms $3 a year, with great reduction to Clubs. L. A. Godey, 323 Chestnut st., Phila.

AN INVITATION TO LEAVE.—J. R. Whittemore, the Newport Abolitionist, who was the Republican candidate for Congress in the 10th district last year, has received the following "notice to quit," which he publishes in the Cincinnati Gazette:

NEWPORT, Nov. 16, 1859.
J. R. WHITTEMORE—SIR: The citizens of Newport have decided that they will no longer permit any person to promulgate such "principles" as you and your brethren in the cause of Abolitionism have been promulgating for the last four years in their city. Therefore, you are hereby notified to leave the city of Newport on or before the 1st day of December, 1859; otherwise you must abide the consequences of your own folly and obstinacy, which we assure you will be serious.
DETERMINED CITIZENS.

Captain McClintock had been notified by the Lords of the Admiralty that the Queen, in consideration of the brilliant success by which his late expedition to the Arctic regions was attended, has been pleased to order that, from April, 1857, to September, 1859, during which time he was in command of the yacht Fox, shall count to him as sea time. This favor can only be granted by the sovereign, and is rarely exercised.

THE MORSE TELEGRAPH IN TURKEY.—The Turkish Government are constructing a line of telegraph across the country, from Constantinople to the Bassora on the Persian Gulf—the English Government contracting to pay $350,000 on its completion, and a large sum per annum for the exclusive use of one of the wires. When the line through Turkey is completed, England will be in telegraph communication with India.

A HEAVY VERDICT.—The Stratford Examiner says: "Judgment has been given in the suit long pending between Mr. Whitehead and the Buffalo and Lake Huron Railway Company. He claimed damages for breach of contract and for work done, and the Court of Chancery awarded him $50,000." The New York Courts are pretty sure to maintain the doctrine of the "inviolability of contracts," when the issue is made before them.

TEXAS LEGISLATURE.—We learn from the Austin correspondence of the Galveston News that both Houses of the Legislature met on the 7th and organized. Mr. Taylor, of Cass, was elected Speaker of the House, and W. L. Chalmers, of Travis, (Independent Dem.) was elected Chief Clerk. J. F. Johnson, of Travis, was elected Secretary of the Senate.

A young lady of Edgefield, S. C., recently attended a family soiree at "The Evening News." One who was there describes her dress (made entirely of newspapers) as being unique and very beautiful. It is said to have presented, by candle-light, a resemblance to the richest brocade, so skillful was the arrangement of its columns.

Mr. Thorburn, (a son of old Grant Thorburn,) well known as a seedsman and horticulturist, will probably, says the Boston Journal, soon be called to Mount Vernon to superintend the restoration of those hallowed grounds laid out by Washington.

Lucius P. Little, of McLean, is announced as a candidate for Assistant Clerk of the Senate. We are informed by those who know him that he is every way qualified for the position, and is besides a true Democrat.

CHAMBERS.—L. Tobin, at his new grocery next to the Capitol Hill, has some of the best cigars in the city. So say those who have tried them.

We are indebted to Hon. John J. Crittenden for a bound copy of the Congressional Globe, embracing the debates of Congress for the sessions of 1858-9.

B. F. Rice, Esq., whose mysterious disappearance has caused some anxiety, passed through this city on the cars yesterday, on his way to his home in Estill.

"Don't fail to see Sixth Annual Announcement," and brilliant offers, in another column.

Harper for December is for sale at the book store of Keenon & Crutcher, Main street.

MANSON HOUSE, FRANKFORT.—This house is now undergoing a thorough repairing from cellar to garret, and will in a few days be reopened by Messrs. G. L. Postlethwaite & Co., Capt. Postlethwaite, who will have charge of the house, has a high reputation as a caterer to the public taste in hotel keeping, and is deservedly popular. We predict that under the new proprietorship, the Old Mansion will be one of the most popular houses in Kentucky.—Lexington Statesman.

The Relations Between Mr. Clay and Gen. Taylor.

The Hon. James B. Clay has written a letter to the Lexington Observer and Reporter, in relation to the coolness between Mr. Clay, his father, and Gen. Taylor. He says: "Messrs. Editors: Your last paper contained an extract from a notice by the Hon. Thomas Ewing, of Ohio, of an article which appeared some time since in a New York paper, purporting to be a 'Strap of History,' respecting the relations which existed between my father, the late Hon. Henry Clay, and President Taylor. I had previously seen the New York paper, and was struck by the injustice done to Gen. Taylor, and especially to the motives of my father, in the article referred to, but supposed that the recent history of public men and events was too fresh in the minds of men to render any notice of it necessary."

Very shortly after the inauguration of Gen. Taylor, in 1849, he tendered to me the mission to Portugal, which I accepted. Whether the appointment was made at the request of my father, or at the request of Gen. Taylor, I cannot say. Mr. Ewing, or not, I cannot say of my own knowledge, although I always understood and supposed that the tender of the appointment was voluntary on the part of Gen. Taylor. I knew, however, that it was intended as a compliment to my father, I being an unknown, obscure person. How the duties of the position were discharged, the records of the State Department, and President Fillmore's message of 1850, will show.

"My nephew, Henry Clay, Jr., the son of my deceased brother, Col. Clay, accompanied me to Europe in 1849, and after his return, upon the application of his grandfather he was, without objection, appointed a cadet at West Point, or was it at all extraordinary that he should have been, Presidents usually observing the rule to give to the sons of officers fallen in the service of the country the ten appointments at West Point at their disposal."

"The relations between Gen. Taylor and Mr. Clay were not influenced in any way by either the appointment of the latter to West Point, or of the grandson as a cadet at West Point, or by anything connected with or growing out of either appointment."

Mr. Clay then proceeds to give the true reason, and publishes two letters from Gen. Taylor to his father. In the first, dated Headquarters, Army of Occupation, Camp near Monterey, Nov. 4th, 1847, is the following extract, alluding to a reply which he had given to some gentleman who had approached him on the subject of becoming a candidate for the Presidency:

"I stated to him specifically that I was ready to stand aside if you or any other Whig were the choice of the party, and that I sincerely hoped such might be their decision."

The importance of liberty and good feeling among the candidates of the present dynasty, by no one appreciated more considerably than myself, and whatever may be the decision of the party, I shall be studiously guarded in this particular, and strive to bend my best endeavors to the preservation of unity."

It will be seen that in this General Taylor was reluctant to allow his name to be used, and indeed upon his desire to promote the harmony of the party. From the second letter, dated "Baton Rouge, April 30th, 1848," we quote the following, premising, however, that in the preceding paragraphs General Taylor stated that he had, in a letter which he had written to Mr. Clay, then or Judge McLean should be the nominee:

"After writing said letter, I received the proceedings of the people called together in primary assemblies in several of the States, nominating me as a candidate for the Presidency at the next election, and in several instances stating that it was understood that my name as a candidate, and that I was to be elected."

Mr. James B. Clay then makes the following comment on these two extracts, and the proceedings of the Convention that nominated Mr. Clay: "Were not these two letters, the one telling Mr. Clay, that he was ready to stand aside if he or any other Whig were the choice of the party, and that he sincerely hoped that such might be their decision," and the other telling him that it was understood that my name as a candidate, use him, whether he or Mr. Clay were the choice of the party, or not, abundantly sufficient to estrange Mr. Clay from Gen. Taylor, without reference to sons or grandsons? But what followed? The Convention at Philadelphia, and nominated Gen. Taylor for the Presidency. Mr. Clay and his friends, in the nomination by the conduct of the majorities of the Kentucky delegations in Congress and the Convention. That Convention, following at the views of the nominee and his advisers, refused to put forth a platform of Whig principles, but laid resolutions having that object on the table. Mr. Clay, in consequence, was subjected to a secession. It is to be found in his letter to the Committee of Louisville, dated Ashland, June 14th, 1848, from which I extract the following: He then quotes the following, from a letter of his father to the Whig Committee at Louisville: 'I have been much importuned from various quarters to induce Gen. Taylor to accept of the nomination by the Whig Convention at Philadelphia, and to recognize or proclaim its attachment to the principles or measures, and actually laid on the table resolutions having that object in view. I ought to come out as a warm and partisan supporter of a candidate who, in a reversal of our previous position, must be $60 instead of $3, in order to defray extra postage. Ac. Persons wishing to form clubs will apply for a circular of terms.' The beautifully illustrated Art Journal, giving full particulars, will be sent on receipt of 18 cents in stamps or cash. Address: C. L. DERRY, Actuary C. A. A., 546 and 548 Broadway, New York."

"The breach, however, was greatly widened, when, after, in 1849-50 the Union, shaken to its center, he found President Taylor, his Cabinet, and his friends in Congress, the strongest opponents of the series of resolutions called the compromise of 1850, which was hailed with rapture by the country, which gave peace and quiet, and which is looked to now by all parties as one of the great landmarks of American legislation."

ROMANCE IN HOOSIERDOM.—Reynolds Station, 1 White county, Indiana, the Lafayette Courier writes, is as famous as Harper's Ferry. They have had an elopement case. It is the old story so often told. The young folks loved not wisely but too well. The cruel father said "no" with an emphatic expletive which sounded very like a curse word. An elopement was the consequence. The runaway aimed to make the connection at Michigan City, but the fates were unpropitious. The train was an hour behind time, and while they stood waiting in anxious suspense, the father, armed with a shot-gun, made his appearance, and was about to execute dire vengeance upon his child, but he was so late, when Judge Test, who happened to be at the station, interfered in his behalf and spoiled an excellent time. The girl was obliged to return to her father's house, and the young man is doing as well as could be expected.

MANSON HOUSE, FRANKFORT.—It will be seen by the advertisement in another column that Capt. G. L. Postlethwaite has become proprietor of the well known hotel, the Mansion House, Frankfort. There is not a better landlord or ever gentleman living than Capt. P., and those who secure rooms at the Mansion during the approaching session of the Legislature will be more than a "Strap of History."—Lou. Cour.

THE HIGHEST YET.—Messrs. W. B. Rogers and W. R. Colcord, of this county, sold the other day to Messrs. Todhunter & Co., of Fayette, forty-three mules, mostly broken, at the high price of $212 80. This is the highest price we have ever known for so large a lot of mules.—These are intended for the Louisiana market. Paris (Ky.) Critic.

REVISED STATUTES OF KENTUCKY. New Edition.

BY HON. R. H. STANTON.

THIS valuable work, prepared with great accuracy and labor, by the Hon. R. H. STANTON, of Mayville, Ky., contains the Revised Statutes of Kentucky, as originally adopted in 1792-1822, with all the amendments thereto, and general laws of the State enacted since and up to the present time; thus embodying the whole Statutory System now in force in this State. In addition to the very great convenience of having all the Statutory Law condensed into a single work, well arranged, the text of each volume is illustrated and enriched by full and copious notes of the decisions of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky, settling the construction of such provisions as may heretofore have been of doubtful or uncertain meaning. Those engaged in the administration of the law in this State, will be saved much labor of research by thus having in a small compass and condensed form, the whole practical working of the Statutory System of the State. In truth, the work will be found of great value to all classes of persons. The work is comprised in Two Royal Octavo volumes, printed with new clear type, upon the very best paper, and bound in superior law binding. PRICE, $10. Democratic Meeting in Bath County.

At a meeting of the Democracy of Bath County, held at the court-house in Cummingsville, on the 14th day of Nov., 1859, being County Court day, on motion of R. H. Conner, C. J. Boyd was called to the chair, and on motion of J. A. Turner, Jr., R. H. Conner was appointed Secretary.

The Chairman stated the object of the meeting, when, on motion, the Chair appointed a committee to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting, consisting of J. S. Hurt, Dr. H. Rutherford, R. M. Conner, John Ficklin, James Case, Capt. James Ewing, and John D. Young, who, after a brief absence, reported the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we adopt the principles enunciated in the Cincinnati platform of 1856.
Resolved, That we heartily indorse the administration of James Buchanan; that our confidence in his patriotism, wisdom, and statesmanship is unabated.

Resolved, That the Territories of the United States are the common property of all, purchased by the common blood and treasure of the people of the whole nation, and are held in trust by the General Government for the benefit of the States. That the Constitution was made and adopted by a majority of States recognizing slavery as a bona fide species of property, and it recognizes property in slaves and places them on the same footing with other property; and as one of the great purposes of government is the protection of the owner in the right of property, it is the Constitutional and imperative duty of Congress to pass all needful measures for the protection of that property, whenever the Territorial authorities shall fail or refuse to grant them sufficient protection.

Resolved, That the Territorial Legislature has no power over the institution of slavery, other than to protect it.

Resolved, That as Congress has by the Federal Constitution no power to carry into or take out of our Territories the institution of slavery, we are opposed to any and all compromises on that subject.

Resolved, That we heartily indorse the decision of the Supreme Court in the Dred Scott case, and regard it as a true exposition of the Constitution upon the subjects which it embraces.

Resolved, That the acts of Congress adjudicated by the Supreme Court of the United States are the supreme law of the land, and implicit obedience to them as such ought to be enforced.

Resolved, That this session of the party for offices in its gift, but we now present the name of Hon. John C. Mason—a statesman equal in all respects to the best in the State—able, faithful, tried and true, for the office of United States Senator, and we earnestly hope and eagerly insist that the Democracy of the Legislature of Kentucky may confer this honor to which we feel justly entitled. That we instruct our Representative and Senator to vote for him, and to use all honorable means to secure his election.

Resolved, That the delegates appointed by this meeting to the 9th of January Convention, to be held at Frankfort, are instructed to use all honorable means to secure the appointment of delegates to the Charleston Convention, who view according to the foregoing resolutions; that our delegates are instructed to vote for James Guthrie for President—a man in whose wisdom, integrity and patriotism we have the utmost confidence.

Resolved, That John H. Gaddell, Sanford Allen, John Ficklin, L. Coleman, J. M. Nesbitt, Joshua Ewing, Wm. P. Conner, J. M. Gentry, James Ewing, S. Hurt, W. W. Boyd, C. J. Boyd, Wm. Bailey, and all other Democrats in the county, be appointed delegates to said convention.
C. J. BOYD, Chairman.
R. H. CONNER, Secretary.

Democratic Meeting in Anderson.

At a meeting of the Democracy of Anderson County, in convention assembled, in the court room in the town of Lawrenceburg, on the 14th day of November, 1859, (it being County Court day) for the purpose of appointing delegates to the Democratic State Convention to be held at Frankfort on the 9th of January next, Judge William H. McBrayer was appointed Chairman, and Dr. Landon Carter was appointed Secretary.

The Chairman, on taking his seat, made a very pertinent speech, explaining the objects of the meeting, and appointed the following gentlemen a Committee to draft resolutions, to be read in the sense of the meeting, to wit: James S. Littlepage, Dr. James R. Chambers, James Hallis, Jacob Gaddell, Darius Hackley, Richard E. Crossfield, A. D. Ragan, Squire Willis, Horace Edgington, and William Hughes.

The committee retired, and in their absence the meeting was addressed by several gentlemen. James S. Littlepage, submitted the following preamble and resolutions, which were adopted:

Resolved, That we indorse the Inauguration address of Governor Magoffin—that the doctrines therein contained are sound and patriotic.

Resolved, That we, as Kentuckians, clearly and firmly adhere to the Constitution of the United States as the palladium of our liberties, and from that instrument property in African slavery is recognized; and as such, is entitled to all the protection of other property, either in the States or Territories, and any attempt by the Legislature of a Territory to impair or in any way detract from the interest of the slaveholder by unfriendly legislation, is a violation of that sacred instrument, and is therefore null and void.

Resolved, That in view of the present existing good excitement at Harper's Ferry, Virginia, many and peaceable citizens, who are owners of slave property, will become so exasperated as to believe that there is nothing worth relying on in the North;

we would therefore suggest that the South, before they come to any such conclusion, reflect maturely on the subject.

Resolved, That we believe there are yet sound, national, and conservative men in the North who respect the rights and interests of the South.

Resolved, That we will heartily indorse and support the nominees of the Charleston convention, and will do all in our power to elect them. The following resolution was offered by Charles H. Kavanaugh, Esq.:

Resolved, That John C. Breckinridge is the choice of Anderson county for the next President.

On motion of James S. Littlepage,
Resolved, That every Democrat in Anderson county be appointed a delegate to the Frankfort Convention, and they are requested to attend.

Resolved, That the Kentucky Yeoman, Democrat, and Courier of Louisville, and all other Democratic papers, are requested to publish the proceedings of the above meeting.

The Convention then adjourned.
WILLIAM H. McBRAYER, Chairman.
L. CARTER, Secretary.

Democratic Meeting in McCracken.

At a meeting of the Democrats of McCracken county, held at the court-house in Paducah on Monday, the 14th of November, County Court day, Jno. W. Ogilvie was called to the chair, and Littleton Cooke was elected Secretary.

On motion, a committee was appointed, consisting of Col. John C. Noble, Maj. Alfred Boyd, R. P. Robinson, Dr. A. Calloway, and R. C. Campbell, to draft resolutions expressive of the sentiments of the meeting.

The committee retired for a brief space and reported the following, which were enthusiastically adopted:

Resolved, By the Democrats of McCracken county, that we adhere to, and reaffirm the time-honored principles of our party, as embodied in the platform of the National Democratic Convention held at Cincinnati in 1856.

Resolved, That the territories acquired by the blood and treasure of the whole nation, ought to be governed for the common benefit of the people of all the States, and any organization of the territorial government, excluding, either directly or indirectly, the citizens of any part of the Union from enjoying the same rights and privileges, is a gross violation of the Constitution of the United States, and should receive the severest censure of all true patriots.

Resolved, That we deny the right of Congress or the territorial legislatures to interfere with the subject of slavery, except to guard and protect the rights of the whole nation, and any attempt on the part of Congress or the territorial legislatures to deprive, by unfriendly legislation or otherwise, slaveholders from removing to such territories, and there holding and enjoying their slave property, or the failure of Congress and the territorial legislatures to grant adequate protection to slave property, is a gross violation of the Constitution of the United States, and such a usurpation of power and neglect of duty should be promptly rebuked and firmly resisted by the people.

Resolved, That the right to prohibit slavery in the territories belongs exclusively to the people thereof, and is only to be exercised by them in forming constitutions for State governments, or in their sovereign capacity as independent States.

Resolved, That the Democrats of McCracken county have unshaken confidence in the patriotism, integrity, and Democracy of Hon. Linn Boyd, and hereby express their preference for him for United States Senator, believing that he is the only man who will faithfully adhere to the true doctrine of Democracy, and his devotion to his party, pre eminently entitle him to that position.

Resolved, That the Hon. James Guthrie—distinguished alike by his high personal character and incomparable integrity, his tried Democracy, his great abilities, experience, and eminent statesmanship—is our first choice to receive the nomination for President of the United States of the National Democratic Convention to be held at Charleston in the year 1860—and we hereby instruct our delegates to Frankfort to use all honorable means to have him recommended by Kentucky to the Charleston Convention for that position.

Resolved, That Col. J. C. Noble, N. S. Trimble, A. B. R. Hays, A. P. Thompson, L. S. Stimpert, G. W. Ratcliff, J. W. Ogilvie, J. B. Wiley, Wm. Gary, Samuel Rice, J. H. Hines, William Morrow, W. P. Nichols, L. S. Hines, James H. Houser, Richard Morgan, C. Jones, J. Futrell, L. D. Husbands, L. M. Flournoy, Henry L. Jones, Capt. J. A. Calloway, Major A. Boyd, L. M. Gardner, Judge J. M. Miliken, Samuel B. Caldwell, R. C. Campbell, Thomas F. Terrell, J. M. Bigler, J. H. Husbands, and L. Cooke be appointed delegates from this county to the Frankfort Convention.

After the adoption of the above, the meeting adjourned.
J. W. OGILVIE, Ch'n.
L. COOKE, Sec'y.

Democratic Meeting in Livingston.

At a meeting of the Democracy of Livingston county, at the court-house in Smithland, on the 7th day of November, 1859, on motion of J. K. Huey, it was resolved that I. T. Handlin be appointed Chairman of the meeting, and W. D. Greer, Secretary.

The Chairman explained the object of the meeting as that of appointing delegates to represent Livingston county in the State Convention to be held in Frankfort on the 9th day of January next. Therefore, by motion, the Chairman appointed James K. Huey, William M. Gray, Ralph Noel, Wm. Boyd, and Isaac S. Sells as committee to draft resolutions, as might be deemed expedient for the action of the meeting.

The committee, after retiring for a short time, reported the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we cordially extend to our present Chief Magistrate our continued confidence, and our hearty approval of his administration, calmly and fearlessly relying as it does on the power of truth against fanatical assaults.

Resolved, That we have undiminished confidence in the patriotism, integrity, and statesmanship of the Hon. John H. Gaddell, and we therefore, in the highest tribunal established by it. Therefore, we have undiminished confidence in the patriotism, integrity, and statesmanship of the Hon. John H. Gaddell, and we therefore, in the highest tribunal established by it. Therefore, we have undiminished confidence in the patriotism, integrity, and statesmanship of the Hon. John H. Gaddell, and we therefore, in the highest tribunal established by it.

Resolved, That Congress can confer on the people of a Territory, acting through a Territorial Legislature, no power withheld from Congress by the Constitution; and regarding the doctrines which concede to a Territorial Legislature the power to deprive a citizen of the right of property in slaves, or in any manner to impair said right, whether by unfriendly legislation or otherwise, as anti-constitutional, and in violation of the fundamental principles of free government, and a violation of the express guarantees of the Constitution of the United States, as pronounced by the highest tribunal established by it. Therefore,

Resolved, That the Democracy of Livingston county hold no fellowship with the political heresies known as squatter sovereignty, believing it to be a short cut to all the ends of Black Republicanism.

On motion of the Representative in the Legislature, Judge Thomas Gohsen, is requested to cast the vote of Livingston county in the Convention. On motion, the meeting adjourned.

W. D. GREER, Secretary.

The Troubles at Brownsville—Letter from the Postmaster—Communication to the Editor.

Post-office, Brownsville, Texas, Wednesday, Nov. 2, 1859.

Chief Clerk Post-office Department: DEAR SIR: It becomes my duty to inform you that mail routes 8,606 and 8,595 are made impassable by the forces acting under the bandit Cortinas. This force commands the country around in every direction to within 400 yards of our city market.

Accompanying this, please find the affidavit of Mr. Rannure, mail carrier on route 8,606, also letters and envelopes, and post bills the same, and in the same condition as they came to this office on the 25th ult., except that the letters have been delivered, and the envelopes retained as they come broken, and one letter from R. G. City was not broken, and was delivered. The bag was sent out on the 26th ult.

The mail on route 8,606 on the 25th and 31st ultimo, have not arrived at this office. We are reliably informed that the mails on both these trips and both these routes, as well as the mails from this office on both routes for the last trip, are in possession of Cortinas, and that he has the carriers prisoners.

All the carriers are prisoners. Any attempt to send a mail by either route would certainly fail; on the 30th ult., and last night, no mails were dispatched by either route. They are regarded by me as closed for the present, and I accordingly engaged no substitute carriers. Cortinas is in camp about half a league from here, with an uncertain number of men, but he is known to have several hundred. At least twice in every twenty-four hours, and frequently oftener, he sends his scouts into town. Scouts of every fifty have been counted from one house top, and his men are in sight most of the day, hovering about us. They have taken all the stock for miles around to the other side of the river; have robbed nearly every rancho, and certainly every American, within a range of thirty miles, and they now command the country without dispute up to within a few miles of the city.

The parts of the town best built are barricaded, and into that the families are all brought. Every man is compelled to stand guard or patrol each night. The apprehension and vigilance of the authorities may be judged from the fact that, after being in the ranks ten nights out of twelve, I last night, remained in my office to distribute the newspapers, and to receive the mail. At about five o'clock I was arrested, and taken to the guard house by absence from duty, and remained there under guard until midnight, when the enemy's shots gave us apprehension of a general attack and I was released and placed in the ranks. Every night men are detailed to bring out delinquents, and they open the doors of citizens by force when necessary, and bring them into the ranks, and, sir, the necessity of this course is so obvious that there is scarce a murmur at the hardship. Every citizen of standing sustains this proceeding, though it has been applied to our first citizens.

This is emphatically a war of races and a war of extermination. "Death to Americans," is the cry, and no quarter is expected by prisoners. It is the cry in the streets of Matamoros, and it goes unrebuked. The band have been largely reinforced lately from both sides of the river. In one band ninety convicts escaped from the prisons of Victoria, Mexico, and joined Cortinas. The sympathy of the Mexican people and the active participation of the low classes against us is not doubted by any one; and these facts cause us apprehension lest they may come, as they can, a hundred to our one, to plunder the town, in which case all the population, save the Mexican, would be exterminated.

We held out thirty-six days without assistance. It is a matter of anxious inquiry how much longer we can endure the siege, and in what time the robbers will be armed as to venture upon our defense.

I make these statements in full, that every material fact may be placed at your disposal. The acting Postmaster at Rudville has just arrived; he escaped with his life only. The neighborhood is in a state of alarm, and it is feared that nearly every mail from here up, for the last three weeks, has been cut off, and many letters taken. The mails have been greatly delayed, and in one case the whole mail, and every package was taken out, the bag sent on, and the packages broken open, every letter unsealed, and after being soaked in water, were sent by the next mail up.

Private expresses to Rio Grande City, on the right bank of the river, carry letters for merchants at $20 per letter postage. This has been doing for a month.

I remain, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
F. F. FENN, Postmaster, Brownsville.

P. S.—I send a paper giving an account to the 29th ult., since which time the Victoria convicts have joined Cortinas. They numbered about ninety. Other parties are coming in to him constantly.

Brownsville Affair.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 19.—The Indiana Courier of the 12th inst. states that an express from the sheriff of Neuces county had arrived, reporting that Cortinas, with 1,500 men and nine cannon, has full possession of the Rio Grande from Brownsville to Roma, and that his forces are scouring all the surrounding country. All the mail communication with Brownsville are said to be cut off. Corpus Christi, however, is not threatened.

Captain Tobin with 100 men from Corpus Christi has been defeated, and it is feared that his retreat is cut off. The reports are conflicting and probably very much exaggerated. The latest reliable accounts are by New Orleans merchants, who tell that Cortinas is on the 4th, just when affairs were unchanged.

Gen. Twiggs telegraphed the Government yesterday in relation to matters.

St. Louis, Nov. 19.—A special dispatch from Washington, to the Republican, says the Government have this morning determined to seize the northern States of Mexico, and have been sent for six companies heavy artillery from Fort Monroe, and two light artillery and three infantry from Fort Leavenworth, to proceed immediately to Brownsville.

The Republican learns that Col. Sumner, commander of this depot, telegraphed to Leavenworth this evening for prompt movement of the troops in compliance with this order, and in a week, if necessary, these troops will be in New Orleans. The Republican intimates that security or the future will be wanted in a better boundary than that established by the Rio Grande.

BRAZOS, Nov. 4.—Brownsville was not taken at the evening of the 3d.

POSITION IN LIFE.—The only respectable occupation which there is for an individual is that for which he has the best natural adaptation. If he has any other, he can neither make himself respectable nor wealthy. What he can do best is most appropriate occupation for him. Better to be a poor man at the head of a profession, than at the foot of any profession. In the former position there is usefulness and profit; in the latter nothing but mortification, poverty, and uselessness. Let our mechanics ponder upon these suggestions. Let them resolve to make themselves eminent in the trade to which they are engaged, and our word for it, they never need complain of want of employment or lack of remuneration. But if they content themselves with mediocrity, they will certainly be unsuccessful, because skill, not mere labor, is the criterion of profit.

We regret to learn that Elder Colver, principal, and many others at the school at Brandyville, were poisoned by a negro woman about a house, by putting some poisonous substance in the coffee, but all recovered.—Somerset American.

The Nashville Tragedy.

Our readers have been apprised that George G. Poindexter, editor of the Nashville Union and American, was killed in that city on Friday last, by a negro boy, named John, who was particular, commencing with the statement which was doubtless the origin of the affair that ended so deplorably. In the News of the 16th the following paragraph occurs:

"With the obvious intent of perverting our words and meaning, the Union and American published a paragraph (one quoted from the Republican in 1854, Mr. Hall then being its responsible editor, favoring ultimate emancipation) and suppresses the fact—the expression by the (Constitutional) Convention of the identical sentiments contained in the paragraph—upon which we expressly based our statement that it truly reflected the public sentiment at the time it was written. The fact every way justifies the statement. To leave wholly out of view the fact to conceal from its readers all knowledge of it, and to assail the statement based upon it, is entirely characteristic of the disreputable tactics upon which the Union and American is conducted."

This brought out from Mr. Poindexter the following paragraph, which appeared in the editorial columns of the Union of Thursday morning:

"The charges and insinuations against this paper, contained in the leading editorial article in the Nashville News of yesterday, are utterly devoid of truth. We cannot consent to carry on a newspaper controversy with an editor who utters calumnies against a contemporary trusting to the supposed privileges of age to shield him from responsibility."

The Nashville Banner, of Friday, gives the sequel as follows:

Mr. John H. Hall, a son of the editor of the News, accused Mr. Poindexter, on Thursday last, at the Club Hotel, and demanded to know if he was the author of the above paragraph. Mr. P. replied that he was. Whereupon Mr. Hall denounced him in the severest terms, which denunciation Mr. P. resented by attempting to strike Mr. Hall. The two clinched, but were immediately separated, Mr. P. remarking in substance that the affair could be settled in a more appropriate manner.

During the morning, Mr. Hall received a note from Mr. Poindexter, and a correspondence followed, of the merits of which we are not sufficiently apprised to be able to state its substance. The difficulty, however, was still pending and unsettled, as we understand, on Thursday morning, when the following card appeared in the News of yesterday morning:

"A CARD.—Yesterday morning there appeared in the Union and American the following paragraph:

"The charges and insinuations against this paper, contained in the leading editorial article in the Nashville News of yesterday, are utterly devoid of truth. We cannot consent to carry on a newspaper controversy with an editor who utters calumnies against a contemporary trusting to the supposed privileges of age to shield him from responsibility."

"The 'ch' g' I made against the Union and American in the article of the News above referred to, I established by undeniable facts then and there a direct 'male' no 'insinuations.' The assertion that I trust to the privileges of age to shield myself from responsibility for any statement I make, is false in all calumnies. He who made the assertion trusts to the pistol to shield from exposure the misrepresentation and falsehoods of the journal with which he is connected. That is the plain English of the matter. The shield has selected will prove insufficient for his purpose. I shall go on, as I have begun, with a thorough exposure of all his misstatements, misrepresentations and falsehoods which may appear in the Union and American, and which I may deem worthy of notice—fully able and prepared to protect my person against assault and to punish the assailant."

Early yesterday morning Mr. Poindexter called, in company with two friends, at the counting-room of the News, and asked for Mr. Hall. He was informed that that gentleman had not yet come down. The call was repeated, and Mr. Hall had not yet arrived. Soon after the second call Mr. Hall came in, and was immediately apprised of the fact that Mr. P. under the name of a newspaper editor, had been in the counting-room of the News, and was asking for Mr. Hall. A few moments after he was further apprised that Mr. P. was advancing toward his office from the corner of Dearick street. Mr. Hall immediately took a position in front of his door, and as Mr. P. advanced, he commanded him twice to stop in a loud voice. Mr. P. rather quickened his pace, and at the second command made a move toward his office, and as he moved, he leveled his heavy double barrel shot gun, charged heavily with buck shot, and fired. Mr. P. fell upon the pavement about fifty feet from Mr. Hall, and died in a few moments without uttering a word. His pistol fell by his side. His body received five buck shot, either one of which, in the opinion of a physician who examined his wounds, would have proved fatal. In fact, his left arm, in which he supported an umbrella, was badly broken. The umbrella shaft was also broken.

Mr. P. was immediately carried into the office of Mr. Childress. He gasped as he was laid upon a settee, and expired.

Mr. Hall immediately sent for an officer, and delivered him into his custody. He was subsequently admitted to bail in $5,000.

The Nashville Patriot of the same date, gives this version of the rencontre:

"Our city was thrown into great excitement yesterday morning by a rencontre between Messrs. G. G. Poindexter, one of the editors of the Union and American, and John H. Hall, senior, editor of the Daily News, which resulted in the instant death of Mr. Poindexter. The particulars of this most melancholy and unfortunate affair are briefly these:

"Some six or eight days since a political controversy sprung up between the editors of the Union and American and of the News, during which the editorial columns of both papers were respectively regarded as of a personal nature. In the Union and American of Thursday morning appeared the following paragraph:

"[Here follows the paragraph from the Union and American, as published above.]

"This paragraph led to an affray between the author of it, Mr. Poindexter, and Mr. John Hall, the son of Mr. A. H. Hall, and a young man, in which a few blows were exchanged, but resulted in no hurt to either, the parties being separated by the by-standers. Through their respective friends, they appointed a meeting for the same day near the Sulphur Spring, in the northern suburbs of the city. Both went to the appointed place of meeting, and were present, but through misunderstanding as to the time, the meeting did not take place. Mr. Poindexter, going in the morning, and Mr. Hall in the afternoon. Here the matter rested until yesterday morning, when the following card appeared in the News:

"About the usual breakfast hour, Mr. Poindexter called at the office of the News, and inquired for Mr. Hall, who had not yet come down town. He called again about 8 o'clock, accompanied by two friends, and again failing to find Mr. Hall at the office, he walked down Cherry street to the neighborhood of Cedar, where he remained for perhaps half an hour, and then he returned alone in the direction of the News office. When he had approached within some thirty or forty steps of the door, Mr. Hall, who was warned of his approach, stepped out upon the pavement with a double-barrel shot gun in his hand. He called to Mr. Poindexter either two or three times to stop, but the latter continuing to advance, he leveled the gun and fired one barrel, the charge, which consisted of buck-shot, taking effect in Mr. Poindexter's breast stomach, and killing him almost instantly. He was conveyed within the law office of Hon. Andrew Ewing, in front of which he fell, and thence to the residence of a friend. He did not speak, we learn, after receiving the shot."

[From the Union and American of Friday.]

DEATH OF G. G. POINDEXTER.

The sad duty devolves upon us of announcing the death of our associate and friend, G. G. Poindexter, who was killed yesterday morning by John H. Hall, the son of the editor of the Daily News. Poindexter was a native of Virginia, and of a family, both on his father's and mother's side, (his mother was a Gilmer), eminent for patriotism, talent and courage. He was born on the 30th November, 1829. He graduated at Dartmouth College, in New Hampshire, and at the Law School of the Cumberland University, at Lebanon. In 1856 he was the Democratic elector for the Eighth district of this State. The late Hon. A. V. Brown, who knew him well, and appreciated his many many virtues, appointed him Chief Clerk of the Democratic Convention, he resided in 1856. This office he held only about one year, and resigned it, on the solicitations of the publishers of this paper, to become one of its editors and proprietors. The engagements of his associates have been such, during most of the time of Mr. Poindexter's connection with the paper, as to throw most of the editorial labor upon him. We may safely say that no man in this country ever earned, in the same time, a more enviable reputation in this capacity than that which has been achieved by our deeply lamented colleague. As a man, he was nearly as faultless as humanity can become, for the many courage, which, careful of the rights of others, is yet fearless in the defense of the character of its possessor, will, by no true man, be imputed as a fault. Courteous in all his intercourse with others, he exacted the same courtesy to himself.

We are in no frame of mind to write more at this moment. We incorporate here the action of the House of Representatives on learning the news of the sad event.

Mr. Wickers—Mr. Speaker: After consulting with members of this House, touching the sad news that has just reached us of the untimely death of G. G. Poindexter, Esq., it is thought prudent to adjourn. We are not in condition of mind to transact business—our thoughts are otherwise engaged. We are thinking about the sad news that has taken one from among us, full of life and health, and cannot then concentrate our minds upon the important business before us.

I therefore, as well upon this consideration as for the respect of the parties, move that this House adjourn until two o'clock to-morrow. It was afterwards agreed to adjourn till ten o'clock Monday morning.

Great Excitement at Harper's Ferry.

HARPER'S FERRY, Nov. 17, (midnight.)—A messenger has been sent to Charleston to obtain reliable information regarding events there, but he has not yet returned. Great excitement exists here, and armed guards are patrolling the streets and roads. It is rumored that 250 men, armed with rifles, are encamped near Berryville, a town near Charleston, meditating the rescue of Brown. The report is too improbable for any confidence to be placed in it.

HARPER'S FERRY, Nov. 18, 2 a. m.—The messenger dispatched to Charleston has not yet returned. He left at 10 o'clock, and was to have been back in two hours and a half. It is probable that he has been detained by some of the guards.

HARPER'S FERRY, Nov. 18.—The messenger sent to Charleston was detained outside of this town over two hours and a half before the guard would permit his departure, and he was also detained until 4 o'clock on his return.

A very large fire occurred during the night about four miles from Charleston, and the military was ordered out expecting an attack, but none was made. The particulars of the fire could not be ascertained by the messenger, as they will be ascertained on the arrival here of the train from Winchester.

RICHMOND, Nov. 18.—Six companies of military are under arms, ready to start to Charleston at a moment's warning. None left yet.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—A company of 87 infantry and riflemen left Alexandria for Charleston by an early train, via the Relay House.

Capt. Duffy's company of 60 men and 4 guns went by special train on the Manassas road, via Strasburg, from thence they are to march 18 miles to Winchester.

The excitement at Harper's Ferry last night was caused by the burning of a wheat stack about three miles from Charleston, and the military and whole populace were called to arms, and the wildest terror prevailed among the people, with the supposition that Col. Davis had some information of an approaching danger. The panic among the people extended to the Colonel, and a messenger was sent by him to Harper's Ferry with a dispatch to the Governor calling for two companies of cavalry. This morning the fire was found to be the work of an unknown person, but no one could be found in the country on whom suspicion could rest. There are now a thousand men under arms, and no enemy to be found to encounter them.

The troops from Alexandria arrived from Charleston this afternoon, and more, by way of Winchester, are expected to-morrow morning. The Baltimore & Ohio railroad company have sent Col. Schutt with an armed posse to Harper's Ferry to guard the bridge and property of the company from the point of view.

There is much dissatisfaction, both here and at Charleston, at the precipitate action of Col. Davis in sending the dispatches for troops, instead of first sending out a posse to inquire into the cause of the fire. The people think that they have been made to appear in a ridiculous light before the country.

The Harper's Ferry Excitement.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 19, 7 3/4 o'clock P. M. The petition of John Brown for a writ of error to the judgment rendered by the Circuit Court of Jefferson county was presented to the Supreme Court of Appeals yesterday. The court to-day refused to award a writ of error, being of the opinion that the judgment of the Circuit Court is plainly right. The execution will therefore take place as appointed, on the 21 of December.

John Allan, Daniel, Marcare, Lee and Robertson on the bench.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 19, 11 o'clock P. M. The first regiment of volunteers, four hundred strong, left at 9 o'clock this evening for Charleston, Gov. Wise is said to have the orders have been sent to Washington for ammunition.

Gov. Wise's dispatches from Col. Davis state that a body of armed men are approaching from the direction of Wheeling.

CHARLESTOWN, Va., Nov. 19.—All now quiet in this town, but the military forces are augmenting; the barns, stock yards and implements, amounting to several thousand dollars in value, belonging to Messrs. John Burns, George H. Tate and Mr. Shirley, all of whom were jurors in the recent trials, have been burned.

Hon. Alexander Hunter professes to be convinced that an attempt will be made to rescue the prisoners, and a letter from Urbana, Ohio, addressed to Brown, written in cipher, which has been deciphered, and which is said to keep good spirits, that his friends are mustering, and will drop along one at a time.

Col. Davis telegraphed to-day for five hundred additional men.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 19.—Eight companies of Federal troops were ordered from Old Point to Brownsville, under Col. Brown. Richmond troops leave for Charleston in the morning, in consequence of dispatches from Col. Davis to Gov. Wise. Great excitement prevailed at Alexandria in consequence of dispatches from Davis to Wise.

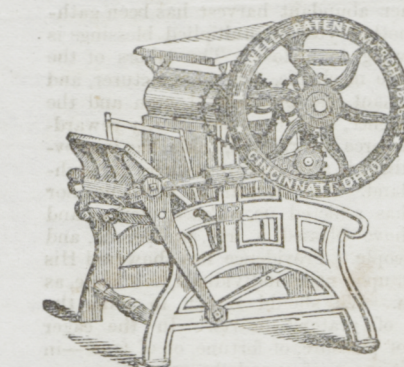

BALTIMORE, Nov. 19.—Rumors are in circulation that a body of armed men are crossing or have crossed the river from Ohio to near Wheeling.

WHEELING, Va., Nov. 19.—No armed men have crossed the river here, nor are there any rumors of their crossing near this place.

RECOVERED.—Mr. Buchanan, of Crab Orchard, Ky., some weeks since hired a horse and buggy, with a negro boy, to a man who said he wished to go to Irvine to buy Estill Springs. The next thing heard of the man he was in Tennessee, where he had disposed of the horse and buggy. Maj. Berry, who has just returned from Barboursville, informs us that he saw Mr. Buchanan, who had followed the man

These Periodicals all represent the three great political parties of Great Britain—Whig, Tory, and Radical—but politics forms only one feature of their character. As organs of the most profound writers on Science, Literature, Morals, and Religion, they stand as they ever have stood, unrivaled in the world of letters, being considered indispensable to the scholar and the professional man, while to the intelligent reader of every class they furnish a more correct and satisfactory record of the current literature of the day, than any other source.

N.B.—The price in Great Britain of the five Periodicals above named is $31 per annum.

OUR REPRINTS versus ECLECTICS, &c.

As we have for many years been paying more than $200 annually to the British Publishers for the rights of reprinting these Periodicals, thus virtually becoming copartners with them in the profits of the Periodicals, we trust the public will consider the bestowing their patronage, and give us the preference over Eclectic and over patchwork publications, whether monthly, or weekly, which now extract so liberally from our works and pay nothing either to the Foreign Publishers or to us for the same.

As a cheapness nobody can complain of, we have for the year for the four leading British Reviews and Blackwood's Magazine, and by taking these works extra, subscribers are enabled to obtain the best of the choice of the articles they may desire to read. Moreover, taking into consideration the style in which our Periodicals are published, and the advantage of an early issue by means of the advance sheets—our services are clearly and beyond any of the competing publications to which we have alluded.

Remittances should always be addressed, post paid, to the Publishers.
